COSTA RICA CYCLING

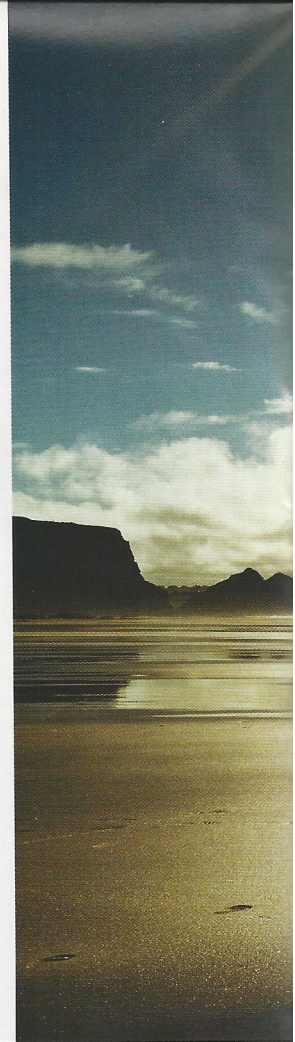

Costa Rica is a country of plurals – rainforests, beaches and volcanic peaks, so it's only appropriate that you see it on two wheels. Trek Travel's coast-to-coast trip takes you biking along mountain foothills, the Pacific Ocean coast as well as the Caribbean. Plus, there's zip-wiring through a cloud rainforest and whitewater rafting if your bum's too sore after all the cycling. trektravel.com

ZERO-G: If you've been inspired by Man of Steel, we may just have the flight for you. For $4,950 you can experience weightlessness courtesy of ZERO-G. gozerog.com

BASECAMP SPITZBERGEN

Things can get pretty chilly in the UK but few of us have experienced anything close to navigating a glacier. Basecamp Spitsbergen offers a real taste of the Arctic – complete with tundra and polar bears – for those who laugh in the face of sub-zero temperatures. basecampspitsbergen.com
